

outstanding. This is my first inkling of something that would cause a complaint of any sort.

You are right – I jumped the gun in getting the fitness section added to the magazine. It's in this month, though! Sorry for the miscommunication.

MOVIE LOVERS SEARCHING FOR ANSWERS

On our first date, my wife and I saw I'll See You in My Dreams, starring Doris Day and Danny Thomas. My wife and I are now married for 53 years and if you can find this movie in your archives, I would appreciate it if you can show it on HBO, Cinemax, TCM or AMC, which are some of the movie channels I have. It would be nice to see this movie and reminisce about our beautiful life together.

Congratulations on 53 years – that's amazing! Keep in mind, we don't determine what airs on a network. Each network determines that for itself, so you would have to contact a network directly to make that request. As for the film you are seeking, I don't see it scheduled as of presstime on any of the networks you list.

However, I am sending you a DVD copy, so look for it in the mail.

I have been a subscriber to DISH Network and DISH Entertainment Magazine for many years. I thoroughly enjoy each and, frankly, have a difficult time understanding how your scope is so broad and yet so incredibly accurate. I wonder if you could help me with a problem? I have been trying unsuccessfully to get a copy, preferably a DVD, of the 1937 classic The Hurricane to add to my collection of favorite old movies. I have tried online as well as several video stores. I am referencing the John Ford movie with Jon Hall and Dorothy Lamour.

– Ed G.

I only found it in VHS, but I'm still sending it to you. Enjoy!

One of the best and most heartfelt movies I've seen is Lush Life with Forest Whitaker and Jeff Goldblum. Any chance we might see it on DISH? It doesn't seem to be available on DVD. What a great movie!!

– Dan D., Santa Cruz, N.M.

Found this one, too – it's from the archives of a library, so hopefully it's still in decent shape.

I recently visited Manzanar, the World War II concentration camp located near Lone Pine, Calif., for the second time. A lot of progress has been made on restorations. I learned that there was a movie made about life there by a woman who was there. I have tried to find a copy to no avail. I wonder if you could help me. The movie is titled Farewell to Manzanar and was released March 11, 1976. John Korty directed and it was nominated for two Emmys and won one. It was featured at the L.A. Asian Pacific Film Festival this past May. I will be grateful for any info you can give me. Thank you.

This one, unfortunately, I had no luck with. There are a lot of books on the topic but no copies of the film. I do, however, have a copy of Stephen Flynn's book "America the Vulnerable" – forgot where I got it, and it has nothing to do with World War II, but it does address the war on terrorism. Expect it in the mail sometime soon.

EVERYBODY LOVES A CUTE DOG!

Attached is a picture of my red dachshund, Gus, asleep with an old DISH Network remote. If you'd like to use the humorous picture of Gus, feel free. Keep up the great work on the magazine. My favorite parts are "DISH Chatter" and "Tech Talk."

Loved the picture, and thanks for sharing. Gus, I'm sending you a Frisbee from National Geographic Channel's "Dog Whisperer." Ask Matt if he will play with you!

Late night TV just wipes out Gus

WHERE'S THE FITNESS SECTION?

In the September issue, my wife and I read with interest your saying that a fitness section was added to the Sports Section in that edition. After going to the Sports Section and then perusing it closely, we found that nothing resembling fitness was there. We are also interested in this subject, just as your letter writer Patti S. from Philadelphia is. By the way, your magazine is
